239. SPARTACIST LEAGUE. Don't Be Fooled. New York: Spartacist League, (1968). 8 1/2 x 11 in. Mimeographed broadsheet. 2 p. Folded twice horizontally; else very good. $25.00

Disdainful critique of the malleable positions of the Workers League: "The Workers League has struck again. In a leaflet announcing a Workers League 'rally' on 13 September, this unstable organization has made yet another in a seemingly endless parade of crazy, contradictory gyrations. The Workers League has once again changed its political positions to conform to some new brainstorm on the part of its 'leader,' Tim Wohlforth, cynically and without any attempt at explanation revoking its previous public positions ... To be sure, the Workers League is far from being the only opportunist group on the Left. (It is certainly the smallest) ... An opportunist group like the Workers League has no future. Contradicting itself every few months, it must hide its history ... And an organization whose past history and positions cannot bear the light of day will never attract to itself the serious revolutionary militants of the future."

240. SPARTACIST LEAGUE. For a General Strike Now! No Pay Cuts! Smash Prop. B! San Francisco: Spartacist League, (1976). 8 1/2 x 14 p. Mimeographed broadsheet. 2 p. Very good. $25.00
